

PRIVACY POLICY

As professionals engaged in the provision of legal services to clients, The Whisler Law Firm P.A. (“Firm”) is committed to protecting the privacy of confidential and personal information, including personal data relating to individuals who may be clients, staff, agents, lawyers, law students, job applicants or others inside and outside the Firm. It has always been and remains the Firm’s policy to comply with the Rules of Professional Conduct, which impose a duty upon lawyers and their associated personnel to preserve and protect confidential client information.

This Privacy Policy is based on the privacy and data protection principles common to the countries in which we operate. We apply it in light of our over-arching obligations to comply with law, to preserve client confidentiality and to represent our clients as effectively as possible within the bounds of the law. This Policy is intended to summarize the Firm’s data protection practices generally, and to advise our clients, interested law students, job applicants, website visitors, and other third parties about the Firm’s privacy policies that may be applicable to them.

This Privacy Policy is specifically addressed to parties outside the Firm who provide personal information to the Firm or who visit or use the Firm’s website.

TERMS OF USE AND PRIVACY POLICY

This website or “whislerlawfirm.com” is owned and operated by The Whisler Law Firm P.A. (“The Whisler Law Firm”), 1909 Tyler Street, Suite 501, Hollywood, FL 33020. Your use of whislerlawfirm.com constitutes your agreement to the Terms of Use and Privacy Policy set forth below.

The information on whislerlawfirm.com is subject to change at any time and for any reason without notice. The Whisler Law Firm will make such changes by posting them here. We encourage you to check this page periodically for any changes. Your continued use of the website following the posting of changes to these terms will mean you accept those changes.

No Legal Services or Attorney-Client Relationship

Although whislerlawfirm.com may provide information concerning potential legal issues, it is not a substitute for legal advice from qualified counsel. You should not and are not authorized to rely on this website as a source of legal advice. Your viewing of, access to or use of this website does not create any attorney-client relationship between you and The Whisler Law Firm.

Please be further advised that making an inquiry through this website, or sending email or other correspondence to The Whisler Law Firm or any of its attorneys will not create an attorney-client relationship. If you are not currently a client of The Whisler Law Firm, your email or other correspondence will not be privileged and may be disclosed to other persons. Unless and until The Whisler Law Firm has formally established an attorney-client relationship, as evidenced by a signed engagement agreement, please do not send any confidential information or any information that you would expect to be maintained in confidence.

If you communicate with us by email in connection with a matter for which we already represent you, you should note that the security of Internet email is uncertain. By sending sensitive or confidential email messages that are not encrypted, you accept the risks of such uncertainty and possible lack of confidentiality.

Disclaimer

Materials on this website have been prepared by The Whisler Law Firm for informational purposes only and do not constitute advertising, a solicitation or legal advice. The information contained in this website is provided only as general information that may or may not reflect the most current legal developments; accordingly, information on this website is not promised or guaranteed to be correct or complete, and The Whisler Law Firm makes no warranties, representations or claims with respect to any of the information on this website. Further, prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. The Whisler Law Firm expressly disclaims all liability in respect to actions taken or not taken based on any or all the contents of this website.

The Whisler Law Firm does not wish to represent anyone desiring representation based upon viewing this website in a state or other jurisdiction where this website does not comply with all laws and ethical rules of that state or jurisdiction.

Proprietary Rights

We understand the importance of online privacy to our website visitors, so we have established this Privacy Policy to let you know what information we may collect from you on the website and how we may use and share that information. Please take a moment to review the terms of our Privacy Policy. By using the website, you agree to and accept the terms of our Privacy Policy. If you do not agree to the terms of this Privacy Policy, please do not use the website. This Privacy Policy applies only to information that we collect on the website and does not apply to information which we may collect by other means.

Personal Information

- Information We May Collect

“Personal Information” means any information that may be used to identify an individual, including, but not limited to, a first and last name, a physical address, a phone number or an email address. In general, you can visit the website without telling us who you are or revealing any Personal Information about yourself. However, in order to access certain information, services or features on the website, we may ask you to provide Personal Information.

We may also collect certain limited information about your interests and preferences (“preferences information”), such as which areas of the law you are interested in. If we ever use any preferences information together with any Personal Information, then such preferences information will be treated as Personal Information under this Privacy Policy.

- How We May Use Your Information

If you provide us with Personal Information, we will retain and use that information for certain limited purposes. We may also use Personal Information to ensure compliance with our policies and applicable law.

- With Whom We May Share Your Information

We may sometimes use other businesses to perform certain services for us, such as maintaining the website and our mailing lists, sending postal mail (if necessary) and providing marketing assistance and data analysis. We may provide Personal Information to those businesses when that information is necessary for them to complete a requested transaction or otherwise perform their duties. The Whisler Law Firm will take reasonable steps to help ensure that these third-party service providers are obligated to protect Personal Information on The Whisler Law Firm’s behalf.

We reserve the right to disclose visitor information in special cases when we have reason to believe that disclosing this information is necessary to identify, contact or bring legal action against someone who may be causing injury to or interference with (either intentionally or unintentionally) our rights or property, other visitors, or anyone else that could be harmed by such activities. We also reserve the right to disclose visitor information when we believe that the law requires it.

Aggregate Information

From time to time, we may collect general, non-personal, statistical information about the use of the website, such as how many visitors visit a specific page on the website, how long they stay on that page and which hyperlinks, if any, they “click” on. We collect this information through the use of “cookies” and other tracking technologies, which are discussed in greater detail below. We collect this information in order to determine which areas of the website are most popular and to enhance the website for visitors. We may group this information into aggregate visitor data in order to describe the use of the website to our existing or potential business partners or other third parties, or in response to a government request. We may also group preferences information that we collect from visitors into aggregate data for the same purposes. However, please be assured that this aggregate data will in no way personally identify you or any other visitors to the website.

Cookies and Other Tracking Technologies

Some of our web pages utilize “cookies” and other tracking technologies. A cookie is a small text file that a website transfers to a hard drive for record-keeping purposes. For example, we may use cookies to collect information about website activity. Most browsers allow you to control cookies, including whether or not to accept them and how to remove them. You may set most browsers to notify you if you receive a cookie, or you may choose to block cookies with your browser. However, please be aware that some features of the website may not function properly or may be slower if you refuse cookies.

Tracking technologies may record information such as Internet domain and host names; Internet protocol (IP) addresses; browser software and operating system types; clickstream patterns; and dates and times that our website is accessed. An IP address is a number that is automatically assigned to your computer whenever you are surfing the Web. Web servers, the big computers that “serve up” Web pages, automatically identify your computer by its IP address.

It is not our practice to link the information we record using cookies or other tracking technologies to any Personal Information you submit while on the website. However, we reserve the right to use cookies, IP addresses and other tracking technologies to identify a visitor when we believe it is necessary to enforce compliance with the Site’s policies, to protect the website, our visitors, clients or others, or when we believe that the law requires it.

Links to Other Websites

Please be aware that when you are on whislerlawfirm.com, you could be directed to other websites. These other websites may send their own cookies to visitors, collect data or solicit Personal Information. The privacy policies of these other websites may be significantly different from The Whisler Law Firm's Privacy Policy. We are not responsible for the privacy practices of these other websites and cannot guarantee the security of any of your Personal Information collected there.

Security

We intend to take reasonable and appropriate steps to protect the Personal Information that you share with us from unauthorized access or disclosure. When you transmit Personal Information from your PC to our servers, your information is protected by both a "firewall" (a combination of computer hardware and software that helps keep unauthorized visitors from accessing information within our computer network) and industry standard SSL (Secure Socket Layer) encryption. Unfortunately, no data transmission over the Internet can be guaranteed to be 100% secure. As a result, while we strive to protect your Personal Information and privacy, we cannot guarantee or warrant the security of any information you disclose or transmit to us online and cannot be responsible for the theft, destruction or inadvertent disclosure of your Personal Information.

Children's Privacy

Whislerlawfirm.com is not intended for use by children under 13. We do not knowingly collect Personal Information from anyone under 13 years of age. If you are under 13, please do not submit any Personal Information on the website.

Changes to Our Privacy Policy

The terms of this Privacy Policy may change from time to time. We will notify you of any material changes to this Privacy Policy by posting a notice on the homepage of the Site for a reasonable period of time after such changes are made to the effect that this Privacy Policy has been updated, and by changing the "Last Modified" date at the bottom of this Privacy Policy. We encourage you to check this page periodically for any changes. Your continued use of the website following the posting of changes to these terms will mean you accept those changes.

Governing Law

This Privacy Policy and the privacy practices of The Whisler Law Firm are subject exclusively to the laws or rules of the State of Florida within the United States of America. The Whisler Law Firm makes no representation that this Privacy Policy and such practices comply with the laws of any other country. Visitors who use the website and reside outside the United States do so on their own initiative and are responsible for compliance with local laws, if and to the extent local laws are applicable. If you reside outside of the United States, by using whislerlawfirm.com, you consent to the transfer and use of your information outside your country.

Contacting Us

If you have any comments or questions regarding our Privacy Policy, please contact:

The Whisler Law Firm, P.A.
1909 Tyler Street, Suite 501
Hollywood, FL 33020
Phone: (561) 708-0513
Email: intake@whislerlawfirm.com

Last Modified: February 27, 2020